

GEIGERCOUNTING

Maurits de Lange – sampler/drumcomputer

Geigercounting (a.k.a. Maurits de Lange) is, as he puts it himself, keyboardplayer and soundfreak. As Keyboardplayer he is a member of the Amsterdam band Coparck. As soundfreak he is Geigercounting.

Geigercounting is a fulltime dad. When the baby sleeps and his daughter is calm, he hides in his bedroom to produce mindblowing electro. Live on stage he is armed only with two Korg Electribes, a sampler/drumcomputer not much larger than a good book, he gets on stage to treat the audience with some very energetic, very danceable electro.

Since his debut as Geigercounting in 2003 he released 3 demo's and played most important venues and festivals in The Netherlands. Early 2006 saw the release of his debutalbum, released through the removed Dutch label Supertracks (Bong-Ra, C-mon & Kypsi). "Music To Do The Dishes With" is an album made as mental support while doing the dishes.
